

The Illinois State University Horticulture Center presents

The Triumph of SEEDS

By Thor Hanson

Hanson will present on his award-winning book, The Triumph of Seeds.

In Hanson's words:

"Seeds are vital everywhere..."

"Telling their story reminds us of our fundamental connections to nature—to plants, animals, soil, seasons, and the process of evolution itself."

5-8 p.m., October 4, 2018

Bone Student Center, Old Main Room

Sweet and savory seeded hors d'oeuvres will be served with coffee and tea.

Attendees receive a garden corsage and a botanical souvenir of the evening's presentation.

$40 Registration Required. Alumni.IllinoisState.edu/Horticulture

Sponsorship opportunities are available.

Thor Hanson is a Guggenheim Fellow, a Switzer Environmental Fellow, and has received many accolades, including The John Burroughs Medal, Phi Beta Kappa Award, and two Pacific Northwest Book Awards in nature writing and natural history.

For more information, please contact Jessica Chambers at
(309) 438-3498 or at Horticulture@IllinoisState.edu.

ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY

Illinois' first public university

If you need a special accommodation to fully participate in this program/event, contact the Horticulture Center at (309) 438-3496 • Please allow sufficient time to arrange the accommodation • The Department of Agriculture is one of eight departments and schools within the College of Applied Science and Technology at Illinois State University • An equal opportunity/affirmative action university encouraging diversity
University Marketing and Communications • 19-7363 printed on recycled paper ♻️